

CAL, 37- WARN. V, 1

California San Diego

Warner Springs

State

County

XXXXX
Town or Vicinity

4s
3p
10d

Ranch House - Warner Ranch; (CAL-424)

HABSI

Structure

SEE ALSO NEXT CARD

Library Material: Pages of a Report, 10; Photographs, 3;
Measured Drawings, 4.

History: Built in 1844. Focal point for immigrants to California over Santa Fe Trail and southern routes. First Trading post reached after long trek across desert. Figured in Mexican War with arrival of Gen. Kearny's Army of the West and the battle of San Pasqual. Ranch served as Butterfield's way-station from 1858 until 1861. Camp Wright established on ranch during Civil War for final staging of Calif. Volunteer Battalion under Col. J. H. Carleton.

INKED CRONARS, REPRODUCIBLES

HABSI (over)

Description: One-story, eight room ranch house of adobe brick and handhewn timbers put together by mortise and tenon and wood pegs, typical of the early West.

References: Warner, The Man and The Ranch, Warren L. Morrison, 1962. The Warner's Ranch Butterfield Puzzle, Wm. L. Wright, 1961. Historic Spots in California, Hoover and Rensch, (Revised) 1958.

Index Card Prepared by: A. Lewis Koue, FAIA, National Park Service, Western Office, Design and Construction.
August 1965